ACKNOWLEDGMENT

The Theme of this Annual is The Humanities.
The drawings for this theme are by Mrs.
Thomas A. Hart, who has very graciously given of her talents for this book.

The title page indicates, by the portraits of representative thinkers and artists, some of the aesthetic accomplishments of mankind.
The five division pages have as their titles:

ARCHITECTURE

MUSIC

EPIC LITERATURE

LYRIC LITERATURE

DRAMATIC LITERATURE

THE FOREWORD

The editors have tried to represent within this book the best and most representative features of the student life of West Georgia College during 1935-36. In keeping with this aim, they have chosen as a theme for the annual The Humanities, which represents the best and most representative features of art, literature and music. May the CHIEFTAIN serve to refresh your mind with pleasant memories of your college days.

DEDICATION

To Dean W. F. Gunn, who has stood for honesty, justice and fair play; who has always lent a sympathetic ear to students at any time; who has sought to maintain at a high level the reputation of West Georgia College; who has, through his tireless effort, been an influence for good on the campus, we dedicate this, the third edition of the CHIEFTAIN.

To West Georgia Students:

The crystallization of the Indian ideal found expression in a leader called the chief. To the tribe the chief embodied loyalty, bravery, strength, truth, wisdom and virtue.

This division of the University System of Georgia is located in what was formerly the heart of Indian country. The students of the college chose for the name of their yearly annual, issued by its staff, the name Chieftain. To all of us the Chieftain holds within its covers analogous attributes ascribed the chief of the Indians.

The various student organizations with their definite objectives and worthwhile aims hold the affections of the group. Individual photographs keep afresh ties of friendships and of acquaintanceships made on the college campus. In fact the whole purpose of this edition is to preserve impressions, resolutions, and plans made in the vigor and enthusiasm of youth. The spirit of the Chieftain portrays the spirit of the college. May it be said that here are loyalty, bravery, strength, truth, wisdom, and virtue.

ATHLETICS

Athletic Program

It is the desire of the Athletic Administration at West Georgia College to provide athletics for all its students. It desires:

- I. To furnish student activities in which they can secure relaxation.
- II. To acquaint its students with the whole field of recreation.
- III. To give the students an opportunity to develop a skill and interest in some recreational activities which he or she can carry over into mature life.
- IV. To encourage and develop attitudes which represent the best character.
- V. To give the student a part in the direction of the program.
